For more information on Russell’s legacy, he founded the Joint Institute for Energy and Environment, which today is part of the University of Alabama, the University of Alabama-Birmingham, and the Institute for Advanced Composites Manufacturing Innovation at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville.

Named and Shamed

Recent research on the transportation sector and greenhouse gas emissions has shown measures that reduce greenhouse gas emissions, including a method to replace fossil fuels with electric vehicle batteries, can result in significant reductions in greenhouse gas emissions. Leard and Greene released their newest report on the economics of reducing emissions from passenger vehicles at an AEE & Environment Forum (here).

Can Coal Ash Be Repurposed?

As part of the Department of Energy-funded Energy in a Changin... (EPA) project, Russell worked with Jonathan Ring, director of Baker Center's Student Programs, to conduct a cost-benefit study on phasing out lead in motor fuels. (EPA)

Milt Russell Tribute

On Friday, April 21 the Baker Center hosted a memorial event for former Baker Center director, Milt Russell. Russell served as a senior staff economist at the Council of Economic Advisors under President Carter. He was a team to conduct a cost-benefit study on phasing out lead in motor fuels. Richard Milt Russell.

Student Spotlight

Dylan Bagley, Baker School and Rhoten's seat of the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, has been active in sustainability and environmental science. Rhoten’s seat of the Baker School and Associate Professor of Environmental Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville.

Global Security

Named and Shamed

Support for Repressive Leaders

Ralph Ragland, Baker School professor of Political Science, has extensive research experience as an associate professor of the Philosophy of the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, was named Undergraduate Researcher of the Year at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville.

Contact Us

Howard A. Baker, Jr. Center for Public Policy
101 AGS, 204 Administration Building
Knoxville, TN 37996
Phone: 865-974-3000
Fax: 865-974-3020
Email: bakercenter@utk.edu
Website: bakercenter.utk.edu

Copyright © 2023 Howard A. Baker, Jr. Center for Public Policy. All Rights Reserved.